

SUNDAY P.M. APRIL 29, 2018

SERMON: Trusting God: Overcoming Self.

In my final lesson on Demonstrating trust in God, I want to talk about something I believe is the biggest problem when it comes to demonstrating trust in God.

We are in a constant battle within our own minds. We accuse finances, bad relationships, sickness, etc... of being the cause of our lack of action when it comes to trusting God, when the real cause is a defeated mind.

The way God looks at us is totally different from the way we see ourselves. God sees us as capable and strong as long as we rely on Him.

We see ourselves as weak and incapable and this leads to inaction. As one quote says, "The hardest prison to escape is the mind."

Trusting God means seeing yourself in the light of His strength, not your own.
